WHAT WAS DONE IN STOCKS.

Wednesday, August 2—p. m. There was a sharp change in the speculative temper today. The heavy engagements of gold for importation from Europe, the prospective increase in bank note circulation, and in a much greater degree, the existence of an unusually large short interest were the influential and moving causes. The utter collapse of the Chicago speculation in provisions, which adversely affected the closing yesterday, was accepted on reflection as a distinct benefit to the export trade. In addition to these influences, moreover, there was the growing belief that the special session of Congress, by advancing something useful, the return in the market was a sudden and disastrous one for the bear faction. The buying may have been largely professional, and, although it is difficult to say, it is probable that the bulk of the buying was done in the afternoon. The transactions in Lake Shore, for instance, were smaller than they were yesterday, but its advance was 5 percent, and it is anticipated to only 300,000 shares. These were, in fact, the only shares of the company that were bought in the market. Aside from the general cause, the rally was remarkable for the absence of rumors of any kind.

THE DAY IN THE BOND MARKET.

Government bonds were comparatively active at the opening of the market. A large sale of $20,000 registered 4 1/2 was made at 107 3/4, and bids were lowered 1/2 per cent. The closing quotations were as follows:
